Dear Bethel Daughters,

To ensure Job's Daughters Queensland can safely and responsibly run meetings, activities, camps, fundraisers, and community events, the Jurisdictional Guardian Council holds annual insurance coverage on behalf of all Bethels.

This insurance is an important part of how we care for our members and the adults who support you. It allows us to meet our legal requirements and ensures that everyone is protected while participating in authorised Job's Daughters activities.

Our insurance includes:

1.Public liability and activity cover, which applies during meetings, events, bunnings fundraisers, camps and official activities

2.Personal accident cover for Daughters and registered volunteers if an accidental injury occurs while taking part in approved activities

3.Leadership and association cover, which supports the adult volunteers and leaders who oversee and guide the Order

The JGC has paid the insurance in full to the insurer last year so that coverage remains continuous for all Bethels. Bethels have now been invoiced for their portion of this cost, with time provided to allow payment over the coming months.

This ensures that Job's Daughters Queensland continues to provide a safe, well-managed environment where members can participate with confidence.

We are sharing this information with you so you understand why this insurance is in place and how it supports you as a member.
